BEEKEEPING 101 WORKSHOP

Are you a novice beekeeper – a “new-bee?” Are you an experienced beekeeper willing to share some of your knowledge and experiences? Or are you just thinking about the possibility of keeping a hive? This forum might be just what you’re looking for. We’ll talk about the key aspects of bee biology and behavior and introduce you to several beekeeping methods. You will learn a brief history of beekeeping, the basic equipment needed, site selection, and where to obtain your first honeybees and beekeeping gear. You will also learn how the bee colony works as an organism, interacts with the environment, plants, flowers, and with us!
