BEEKEEPING FORUM – The Putnam Valley Hive

Are you a novice beekeeper – a “new-bee?” Are you an experienced beekeeper willing to share some of your knowledge and experiences? Or are you just thinking about keeping a hive? This local group might be just what you’re looking for. We’ll talk about bee biology and behavior and discuss different beekeeping methods. You will learn about the basic equipment used in beekeeping, site selection, and where to obtain honeybees and gear. Learn how to avoid some of the most common missteps in beekeeping – OR, how to address those missteps once you’ve already stepped into them, as we all do!
